About our National Events Fundraising Programme

The National Events fundraising programme is responsible for a significant proportion of our events income with hundreds of supporters taking on iconic events including the TCS London Marathon and A J Bell Great North Run.

The National Events Fundraiser is an exciting role at MRF within a very successful fundraising team, which last year raised over £500,000 by supporting hundreds of runners to achieve much more than race milestones.

Many of our race participants join Team MRF for deeply personal reasons, having had first-hand experience of the disease. Without Team MRF runners we would not be where we are in the race to defeat meningitis, they are fundamental to our work and have been since our early days as a charity.

Who are we looking for?

You are a people person

This role is all about working with people, encouraging them as part of Team MRF and supporting them to reach their fundraising goals. You will need to be enthusiastic, outgoing and thrive in motivating people to take action through their fundraising.

You are passionate

You will need to be an advocate for MRF's work to defeat meningitis, enabling people to achieve their goals and achieving the best for the Charity. It is through the determination of everyone involved with the national events programme that we are able to deliver a number of our goals as a charity. You will harness that passion to help each runner succeed and understand what a difference they make along the way.

You are a skilled communicator

We are proud of our quality supporter communications, social media pages and in person support. You will be equally happy running a webinar, creating engaging marketing materials and copy writing or helping someone with their fundraising plan on the phone.

You love variety

With many different elements to the role from planning, marketing, stewardship and event delivery you will need to be flexible and adaptable. This isn't a fully desk-based job, as at different points of the year you will get the chance to meet Team MRF runners face to face by attending the events themselves and delivering celebratory post-race receptions.

You are organised

With large teams of runners across a rolling annual events programme you must feel comfortable in managing deadlines, overlapping plans and keeping on top of supporter communications. Whilst we have systems in place to support this, our ideal candidate is someone who enjoys taking responsibility for their own workload.

You want to make a difference

Meningitis is responsible for around 240,000 global deaths a year even though largely vaccine preventable. We are driven to change this by 2030 in all that we do. We also promise to continue to raise awareness and be there to support people who have been affected. If this excites you, then we think you could bring a lot to this role.

How we will support and develop you

Your skills and development are important to MRF. Once you join the team you will meet with colleagues from across the organisation so you understand the important work MRF are doing to defeat meningitis. You will learn all about your role to get you up to speed on the various elements and tools you'll use as you settle into the exciting programme of work in the student team. Every month you will have the opportunity to come together with your fundraising colleagues for in-depth project development and training sessions. Through weekly 121s, monthly supervision and annual appraisal your line manager will ensure you are developing in your role and gaining the professional skills you need to succeed.

About Meningitis Research Foundation

Meningitis Research Foundation is the world's leading meningitis charity, founded in the UK and now taking the fight to defeat meningitis global.

Meningitis strikes quickly and can affect anyone of any age. We are driven by the call of people who have experienced the devastating effects in their lives. Their demand is simple and powerful - to ensure "no other family has to go through what we have".

Our vision is of a world free from meningitis and septicaemia. A world where effective vaccinations can protect everyone. A world where people who do get the diseases get the most effective diagnosis and treatments possible. A world where people affected and their families have the best support and information.

To achieve this we bring together people and expertise, linking patient experience, research, policy and practice. We do this by supporting research into effective vaccines, diagnostics and treatments. We share results of the research with the public, health care professionals and research networks to raise awareness of what they can do to increase personal, family and community protection, optimise treatments and strengthen health systems.

We provide direct support to people and families affected because no one should have to go through this disease alone.

Since the 2021 launch of the World Health Organisation's first ever global roadmap to defeat meningitis we are now underway on an ambitious new phase of development for the charity. We believe there has never been a more exciting time to join our team.

We value imagination, effectiveness and productivity in our work and provide an encouraging environment for enthusiastic, dedicated staff to grow. We reward with good working conditions, competitive salaries and benefits, respect and equal opportunities.

United in the race to defeat meningitis

Did you know?

- > Every year, there are more than 2.5 million cases of bacterial and viral meningitis.
- > Bacterial meningitis is the deadliest form of meningitis. The World Health Organization estimates around 1 in 6 people who get it will die.
- > Around half of all deaths from meningitis will be in children under 5.

There is now a World Health Organisation Global Road Map to Defeat Meningitis by 2030

Meningitis and Me - Mike Davies

Mike contracted meningitis and septicaemia and spent 10 weeks in ICU, which resulted in having his four limbs amputated. He is now the UK's tenth person to receive a double hand transplant. Mike is a valued ambassador for MRF and works in partnership with us to tell his story and not only advocate to defeat meningitis around the world but to also inspire hope for those affected.

"I'm just Mike - and that's how I think of myself. It's coming back to that acceptance".

MRF Values

Our values are extremely important to us and mean far more to us than words on a page

We are evidence-led

We pride ourselves on being grounded in facts. Research and evidence are at our core and remain essential to our work today – guided by our panel of scientific advisors and disease specialists. This approach ensures we provide considered responses to the challenges brought about by the disease, wherever they may be found.

We operate with integrity

To the people we support and work with, we are a trusted source of information and learning. We weigh all of the evidence and operate with openness and transparency to exceed expectations and deliver the best services and responses - be that helping a family or working with health organisations around the world.

We pursue our goals with determination

We will not stop until we defeat meningitis. We will relentlessly seek answers, work tirelessly with purpose and are driven by those we help. Our dedication enables the best modern science, research and on-the-ground learning to work in the positive interests of individuals, families and communities impacted by meningitis and septicaemia, both here in the UK and in communities around the world

We are a passionate advocate

We are a united voice against meningitis and septicaemia and a dedicated champion for those it affects. We exist to ensure that the voices of our members, supporters and those impacted by meningitis and septicaemia in the UK and around the world, are heard and not forgotten. We are highly focused in our work and inform and advise health policy and practice, driven to make a contribution to reducing the burden of the disease and its aftermath.

We collaborate to make progress

We believe in partnership and collaboration. Whether we are supporting individuals and families who have been impacted by the disease, working with international funding partners or supporting on-the-ground health teams working in challenging environments, we combine resources and expertise to deliver the very best results. We share the knowledge we've gained through more than 30 years of work to support and enable those impacted by or battling to defeat the disease.

We act with compassion

We are driven by the stories of those we work for and with. We care deeply, listen and take the best action for each unique circumstance. Whether it's providing direct support, finding the right information, or campaigning for the change that will make a real difference.

If you have read and understand these values and they appeal to you, they are a good indicator of what it is like to work at MRF.

All applicants will be assessed objectively on their merits in accordance with our Equality, Inclusion and Diversity Policy.

How to apply

The closing date for completed application is 9am Monday 3rd June 2024. Interviews will be held in Bristol or via Teams the following week commencing 10th June, or sooner should early candidates apply. We advise you to submit an early application with the strongest chance of securing an interview. The interview will include a short presentation task, which you will be told about if shortlisted. If you have any questions or would like to discuss the role further please email katl@meningitis.org.

Please return application forms via e-mail to beckym@meningitis.org.

Following receipt of satisfactory references, the successful candidate will be able to start as soon as possible. MRF is committed to safeguarding, any advertised role will require references and confirmation of your identity will be undertaken. Specific roles will state if there is a requirement for further checks.
