

Sweepstake Guide

A sweepstake is a great way of making your fundraising current and relevant, and the upcoming 'Virtual Grand National' is the perfect opportunity to raise some cash!

Getting ready for the event

- Pick an event - The Grand National may be cancelled this year, but a virtual race is being held in its place on 4th April 2020.
- Get a prize - Contact local businesses and ask if they would be willing to donate a prize for you.
- Set a price - The better the prize, the more you can charge to enter! Think about your networks and how much you think they will be willing to pay.
- Advertise your event - Create a Facebook event and invite all of your friends (and ask them to share it with their friends too!). You can then post in this to announce the winner, publicly thank people for taking part and help maintain interest throughout. Ask people to donate a set amount to your online fundraising page to enter, and then randomly allocate them a horse. Whoever is allocated the horse that ends up winning the competition, wins the prize!

What you'll need

- Prizes!
- If you are contacting businesses to ask them to donate prizes, you will need a Letter of Authority (speak to your charity contact if you don't already have this)

www.meningitis.org

Katie raised £300 from her
Rugby World Cup Sweepstake!

- Katie Landreth, London Marathon

www.meningitis.org

Sweepstake Guide

Post event

- Announce the winner and how much money you have raised from the event.
- Remember to thank everyone for taking part!

Top tips

- Ask local businesses to donate a prize so you don't have to buy one. Alternatively, offer a cash prize of half of the total amount raised (with the other half going towards your fundraising).
- You could also have a 'bogey prize' for the horse that comes last to add extra interest.

The important stuff

- Make sure you comply with all of the following legalities:
 - The entry price of the sweepstake must be the same for everyone
 - You must decide before hosting your sweepstake if the entry money is going to be split between the winner and the charity, or if you are going to have a separate prize for the winner so that all of the fees go to the charity. Whichever approach you decide to take, participants must be informed before they enter and the host cannot make a personal profit (i.e. all funds will need to be donated)
 - You must not sell entry to people on the street or house-to-house.
 - For more information about the rules of running your own fundraising sweepstake please visit the Gambling Commission website:
www.gamblingcommission.gov.uk
- Check the most up-to-date advice on social distancing to ensure that your sweepstake is safe and legal.

For more information contact fundraising@meningitis.org

"A sweepstake is an easy way to raise some funds quickly!"

- Lisa Lambourn, London Marathon

www.meningitis.org